ANIMALS, ANIMALS, ANIMALS

Inspired by Eric Carle, students learn how to look at animals and draw by using simple geometric shapes. This lesson starts with reading one of Eric Carle's books and taking a closer look at his collage artwork. Students will learn about color and compositional principles of design. Interdisciplinary Science potential by focusing on real animals and animal habitats, but can also focus on developing imaginary animals/creatures. 3 hours total, can be broken up in 2-3 lessons (flexible schedule).

Presented by art educator, Ruth Jatib O'Connor, M.A.T., B.F.A.

GRADES: Modified to fit any age

FEE: $450 plus $2 per student for art materials

COLOR COLLAGES

Discover the work of vibrant artist Henri Matisse to inspire and create colorful collages. This unit focuses on student creativity, allowing for individual artistic expression using a wide range of art materials. Mixed media techniques are introduced but students are encouraged to explore and express in their own ways.

Students will observe, discuss, draw, design, cut and paste. Very fun and engaging unit! Great for all ages, K-12. 2-3 hours total, can be broken up in 2 lessons (flexible schedule).

Presented by art educator, Ruth Jatib O'Connor, M.A.T., B.F.A.

GRADES: Modified to fit any age

FEE: $450 plus $2 per student for art materials

MUSICAL DRAWINGS

Students will learn about the artist Wassily Kandinsky, who experienced synesthesia since a very young age. An animated video of his artworks is shown to demonstrate what he might have seen in his mind's eye, changing to different musical sounds. Students will then create their own musically inspired drawings. During this lesson, we connect music notes to visual elements and break down simple vocabulary terms that connect the two art forms. Simple kinesthetic movements with students exemplify the connection between sound, movement and drawing.

Interdisciplinary Unit. 2-3 hours, can be broken up in 2 lessons (flexible schedule).

Presented by art educator, Ruth Jatib O'Connor, M.A.T., B.F.A.

GRADES: Modified to fit any age

FEE: $450 plus $2 per student for art materials

BRING A VISUAL ARTIST to your CLASSROOM

Karen Brummund

Karen Brummund is a video artist based in Tuscaloosa, Alabama. She travels around the world creating art and loves sharing it with children! She teaches Creativity at the University of Alabama and writes art curriculum for school counselors. She is a Visual Arts Fellow for the Alabama State Council on the Arts. In addition to having degrees in both art and education, Karen has experience working with all ages and numerous schools.

The classroom experience is fun for students and easy for teachers.

Your students will be excited to learn about her art and make some of their own!

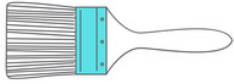

Students will learn more than art! They will use critical thinking skills to analyze visual images in group discussions- this includes new math and geography vocabulary.

Every lesson also includes an open-ended playing and making with materials like Karen Brummund has in her studio. Students learn important creative thinking skills and experience the calm of the creative flow that helps with anxiety.

Having an artist from Alabama in your classroom is a smart way to celebrate the vibrance of our community!

1 hour experience with a max of 25 students - - $300 (supplies included)

CREATED resources

ART STUDIO, CLASSES, & EVENTS

CREATED RESOURCES

Created Resources offers in-school art activities and field trips (either one time or multiple times per semester/year) to engage students from PreK-5th grades in the visual arts and develop their artistic knowledge, skills, and creativity. Owner April Coleman has 20 years of experience as an educator, with a background in gifted and art education, and instruction is focused on the elements of art, famous artists/styles, and basic drawing and painting techniques taught in a fun, engaging, developmentally appropriate way. In-school art activities or field trips are hosted at your school-based location (classroom, library, multipurpose area) and include a custom art project based on a theme of your choice (see below), one hour of guided instruction to create a painting or mixed media project on quality art paper or canvas, and all art materials. Instruction will be provided to each individual class in different time slots unless an alternate arrangement is made to combine classes. Rates begin at $7/student and vary based on project type and number of participants. Themes include the following:

- Meet a Master – Introduction to a famous artist and art project in their style
- Brushes & Books – Integrates an art project with children's literature
- Art & Emotions – Integrates an art project with a SEL concept
- Seasonal – Choose from our library of custom seasonal art projects
- Holiday – Create a unique gift from students to parents for Christmas, Mother's Day, or another special occasion.
- Custom Theme – Let us work with you to plan something special related to a current academic topic, school-wide theme, special event, or anything else!

ART OF DANCE

Students will explore the art of dance by taking your choice of either a ballet, jazz or musical theater style class. Class will consist of movement stretches and learning a fun combination taught by Alden Phillips McShan, a native of Tuscaloosa and current artistic director for Tuscaloosa Community Dancers. 45-60 minutes, designed for groups up to 30.

GRADES: K-12 FEE: $75-$100

COLOR WHEEL

In this highly interactive experience, students work collaborative to paint an oversized color wheel. Starting with only the primary colors, students will learn how to make a variety of colors, how colors interact with each other, and how colors can express and evoke different human emotions. Includes a book reading to illustrate concepts (various books available according to age group). Lots of potential for Social Emotional Learning connections. By the end of this lesson students will have made their own collaborative large-scale color wheel by piecing together smaller pieces of paper. Painted paper can also be used to create other art projects. Pairs perfectly with units "Animals, Animals, Animals" and "Color Collages" listed above. "Color Wheel" is one of the most requested units! 1.5 hours.

Presented by art educator, Ruth Jatib O'Connor, M.A.T., B.F.A.

GRADES: Modified to fit any age

FEE: $300 plus $2 per student for art materials

PAPER SCULPTURE

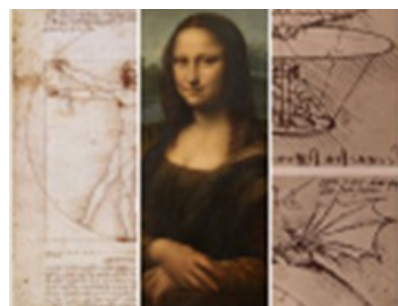

Using only white paper, students will learn to be creative with the most accessible material around! PAPER! Student will first be introduced to several artworks done by professional artists to show the power of this simple material. Students will then create their own paper sculptures. Students will learn the difference between 2-D shapes and 3-D forms and explore sculptural building with easy-to-learn tips and tricks. Basic techniques are taught before challenges are presented, offering students the opportunity to problem solve within a limited set of rules. Lots of fun and tons of room for creativity with limited mess! No glue or tape - just paper. We will fringe, score, pleat, fold, bend, tear, curl, cut, fold-reverse, and much more. Two 45 minute sessions.

Presented by art educator, Ruth Jatib O'Connor, M.A.T., B.F.A.

FEE: $450 plus $1 per student for art materials

GRADES: 3rd - 12 grade

DAVINCI SKETCHBOOKS

After learning about the Renaissance man, Leonardo DaVinci, students will draw, design inventions, solve problems, and document their explorations in a simple self-made sketchbook. DaVinci's wide range of work as a scientist, inventor and artist, serves as a great role model for today's student. This unit introduces students to connections between various academic subjects and how drawing can inform many fields. Interdisciplinary potential: This unit can be adapted to reinforce specific lessons already being covered in current curriculum, upon teacher request. No additional fee for adaptations. 2-3 hours, can be broken up in 2 lessons (flexible schedule)

Presented by art educator, Ruth Jatib O'Connor, M.A.T., B.F.A.

GRADES: Modified to fit any age

FEE: $450 plus $1 per student for art materials

GET RHYTHM!®

An interactive rhythm program with award-winning master teaching artist John Scalici. This program puts a drum in the hands of every student as they learn about respect, communication, and teamwork through rhythm. Some activities incorporate elements of math, science, and language arts. GRADES: 3-8

FEE: Pricing varies. Please contact education@tuscarts.org for a quote.

STORYTELLING

Some of West Alabama's finest actors are available to tell a variety of tales or those that are appropriate to your current curriculum with advance notification.

GRADES: K-6 FEE: $55

ART MUSEUM IN YOUR CLASSROOM

A great ice-breaker for the beginning of the school year! Offers an opportunity for students to share their opinions (no wrong or right answers) and develop critical thinking skills. Students learn to practice positive reinforcement with peers while sharing different opinions. We bring the Art Museum to your students with this thought provoking quick (and no mess) lesson.

Surrounded by a variety of large image reproductions of famous art works, students explore important questions and discuss topics. With no previous knowledge needed, students learn to evaluate art using a variety of specific criteria, practice how to differentiate between preference and judgment, and practice respecting different opinions.

Optional: Higher grade levels can expand lesson with a reflective writing assignment. 1 hour minimum, can be two lessons to provide more time for exploration & discussion.

Presented by art educator, Ruth Jatib O'Connor, M.A.T., B.F.A.

FEE: $250 per lesson/hour (no art supply fee)

GRADES: 4th - 12th grade

Meet our FOUR FABULOUS Artists...

FAMOUS ARTISTS & THEIR ART

Students LOVE to look at art, and this lesson provides a wealth of imagery for their imagination while also encouraging a discussion about different ways to classify art. Historically educational. This is a thought provoking and easy lesson that introduces students to four famous artists as they discover how to differentiate their distinct styles. Interactive lesson with group discussion. Access to digital equipment for slideshow presentation is required. Coloring page of famous artworks is provided at end of lesson to help students connect with the artists' work. 1 hour

Presented by art educator, Ruth Jatib O'Connor, M.A.T., B.F.A.

FEE: $250 (no art supply fee)

GRADES: 4th - 12th grade

THEMES IN ART

Students explore specific themes by looking at art beyond the traditional landscape and portrait categories. Great potential for interdisciplinary lessons. Classroom teacher can determine theme related to course of study or development in any area. Possible Themes: Storytelling and Narrative Art, Emotions and Expression, Math in Art, Self-Portraits and Identity, Nature and the Environment, Fantasy and Imagination, Murals & Public Art, Abstract Art, Poverty in Art, Patterns and Textures, and Pop Art and Popular Culture. SKETCHNOTING

Bring alive the art of taking notes to your classroom! This unit is structured to facilitate both teacher and student learning. Students learn to summarize main ideas and capture important information from classroom lessons. Teachers are encouraged to follow along and learn how to use SketchNoting as a tool to better deliver all academic lessons and check for student understanding. Simple tips and tricks are taught in an easy-to-understand format of working from verbal to visual when using this doodle friendly technique. This lesson can be applied to ANY subject matter: science, history, math, language arts, etc. Access to digital equipment for slideshow presentation is required. — About SketchNoting: "SketchNoting is a higher order process of capturing information. It requires a combination of listening, thinking, and visualizing at the same time. It goes in a constant circular motion and pushes the listener to funnel through the information for the most important parts or patterns." Quoted from Innovation Design in Education, ASIDE.

Tuscaloosa Art Tour with Karen Brummund

Karen Brummund is a visual artist and college instructor who helps students discover that art museums and galleries are places for curiosity, conversation, and connection. Tuscaloosa's vibrant downtown galleries showcase the work of contemporary artists whose ideas reflect the world students live in today. Through thoughtfully designed gallery experiences, Karen creates field trips that encourage students to engage with their community, explore new perspectives, and see creativity at work beyond the classroom.

During each visit, students participate in hands-on activities, interactive games, and guided discussions that strengthen observation, critical thinking, and communication skills. Karen helps students slow down, look closely, and uncover the stories, ideas, and questions behind the artwork. Contact Karen to learn about current exhibitions and schedule a gallery experience that will inspire curiosity, spark meaningful conversations, and create lasting connections between your students and the arts.

AFTER-SCHOOL PROGRAMMING

After School Clay Play

4-week class, dates vary | 3:30-4:30pm | Ages 7-13 | $100/month | Location: Kentuck's Clay Studio at Kentuck Art Center

In this multi-day workshop instructed by Amy Smoot, students will have fun exploring a variety of hand building techniques to create functional and/or sculptural artworks. Students will receive instruction and encouragement through each step of the ceramics process from creating to glazing and decorating their work.

After School Art

4-week class, dates and times vary | Ages 8-16 | $80/month
| Location: Kentuck's Studio 2 at Kentuck Art Center

In this multi-day workshop instructed by Molly Nelko and Sam Wolf, students will explore different themes and artistic media like watercolor painting, process art, printmaking, and drawing. Learning to experiment and play with a wide variety of artistic materials in this supportive environment encourages self-expression and builds lifelong skills like self-confidence and creative problem solving. Plus, they get to have fun and make friends!

TAKE HOME CLAY KITS

Get creative with Kentuck's Clay Studio Take-Home Kits. Make your creations at home with the clay, tools and paint on glazes provided in your kit. Once finished, email Kentuck's Clay Studio manager Amy Smoot at asmoot@kentuck.org to schedule a drop off. Fill out the drop off slip with your information.

Once dropped off, Amy will fire your piece in a kiln for the first firing, called a bisque, to make your creation permanent. Then your piece is dipped in a clear glaze and fired one more time to make it nice and shiny and food safe. You will receive an email once your pieces are done! Work can take up to 3-4 weeks to complete.

Clay Kits available for $28 designed for all ages

Making School Beautiful

Making School Beautiful: After School Mural Project

Give students the opportunity to transform their ideas into collaborative works of art while building creativity, confidence, and school pride. This hands-on after school program introduces students to public art, design, collaboration, and creative problem solving through engaging visual arts activities inspired by real world mural projects.

Students will explore how art can shape a school community, develop their own ideas through collaborative design activities, and work together to create a large scale mural on craft paper that can be proudly displayed in the school. The program also includes digital resources and printable signage to help schools celebrate and share the project with families and the community.

Program Options

One Week Intensive: Five consecutive after school sessions

Six Week Series: One after school session per week for six weeks

Program Fee: $2,250

Optional School Mural Experience

Take the project one step further with a permanent mural for your school! In partnership with a local professional mural artist, student ideas will inspire a custom mural created on campus with administrative approval. This option includes mural design, artist coordination, student participation, and project facilitation.

Add Permanent School Mural: prices vary depending on size. Contact us for an estimate.

Students don't just make art. They discover how creativity, collaboration, and their own voices can make a lasting impact on their school community.
